——— EDITORIAL!! ———

Welcome to our first issue! We hope to be coming out about once every ½term, and need everyone of you to buy a copy; DON'T read someone else's! (of course another reason is that in a few years these original copies of Point Blank will be collectors items and worth VAST amounts of crisp, lovely MONEY.)

Our aim is to entertain, inform, provoke and above all give you all the really JUICY bits of gossip that you thought you'd never hear, even in the darker corridors of the Old building. Things that will phase your brain. Your favourite teachers EXPOSED! Yes, tremble ye Puny Ones in the Den of Sin (common room) POINT BLANK will leave no stone unturned, no book unopened, no drink undrunk and no song unsung. Rest assured that we will print ONLY THE TRUTH, (as we hear it.)

In future issues we hope to bring you in-depth reports and acidic analysis of the important events in and around school. These will include a piece on the drama behind the stage during rehearsals for the play, "Smike," continuation of some of our first-issue features, and a shattering article, now being finalised which has already been hailed by those who have seen it as ;

"The most astounding exposé since the Swindon Gnomes."

Despite overwhelming pressure from many levels that would have broken any other editors, except the men of "Point Blank" we bring you the first offering from a major new publishing venture. Even at this moment our special team of legal advisors are fighting a devious take-over bid from Baron Rupert Murdoch, who has said that he :

" Wil not rest until this bastion of the printed word " is under his claws. However we are determined to remain an independant force on the face of the British media; shooting from the hip.....

GROBBOLY

AND NOW THE STORY THAT ONLY "POINT BLANK" HAD THE GUTS TO PRINT!

AS SIGHTINGS OF THE BEAST INCREASE, AND THOSE IN POWER CONTINUE TO IGNORE THE BIGGEST THREAT TO OUR NATION SINCE "THE GNOMES OF SWINDON", OUR FEARLESS REPORTER, BOTTY, PUBLISHES FOR THE FIRST TIME EVER HIS MAJOR INVESTIGATION INTO THE TERROR OF THE LEGENDARY GROBBOLY.

REV. WRENK: "Take it like a man."

THE GROBBOLY MENACE CONTINUES

Sgt. Wrenk discussed the problems he faces and his fears for the public when I paid a short visit to the squad's headquarters earlier this year. He recalled the sad story of the 1972 "Dead Doggy" tragedy, which saw the first calls for a special group to deal with the menace. A report issued soon after details how an innocent mongrel slipped and broke its neck in a pool of grease which the evil Grobboly had left behind it after prowling the area, presumably to choose its next victim. Since then the beast has kept up a series of brutal attacks, leaving behind only confusing traces of grease.

In fact, the experts at the Institute of Anti-Grobboly Research have found that these foul traces of yellowy grease are all they have to work on at present. Head of the Institute and leading authority in the field, Reverend Wrenk, is a supporter of the pacifist approach to the animal. When I asked how the inexperienced man in the street should defend himself if and when the Grobboly strikes again he replied;

"Not much a man can do. GOD! When you're faced with a maniac like this you might as well just lie down and hope it devours you quickly. Don't make a fuss. Take it like a man. Hopefully it will think you're a lump of stone, or a hedgerow, and pass you by."

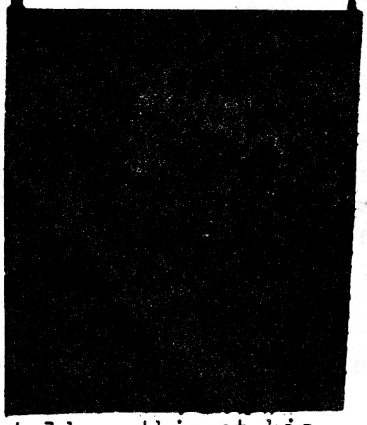

It is surely a credit to the Metropolitan Police's newly formed Grobboly Squad that the general public has remained calm and sensible in the face of more horrific attacks by this mysterious beast. Director of the squad, Sgt. Willy Wrenk, has skillfully underplayed the danger of the Grobboly in order to avoid widespread panic among the people of London, many of whom remain unaware of the fiend. Today the devious animal is still at liberty, despite emergency measures from a "very worried" G.L.C. This article aims to bring to light the facts behind the long struggle against this tyrant, in the name of justice, freedom and British civilisation.

MRS EILEEN WRENK: keen interest in underground golf.

SPECIAL REPORT

DR Z.P.WRENK: wanted his "blanket" after our man interviewed him.

But some sections of the public are t satisfied with what they see as adequate protection from the monster. king the law into their own hands they ve formed a vigorous new pressure oup,"Housewives against the Grobboly!

eaking at the "Hunt the Grobboly in 81" conference in January Dr Z.P. enk concluded his fiery speech by reaming

"If this wicked creature is not destroyed it may breed and our country will be swamped by these greasy animals."

However even he admits the diffi- ulty in tracking down the detestable rute,

"Over the last few years the whole question of the Grobboly has become the most frustrating shame-up that my profession has ever known."

SGT. WRENK, THE PLAINCLOTHED LEADER OF THE GROBBOLY SQUAD, GOES INTO ACTION, NOV.1979

The overworked doctor told me this at his Finchley office,"we have no idea what it looks like, what its living habitat is or how to lure it out into the open," he confessed as he tightened the straps on his Grobboly Protecto-suit that he has worn ever since the savage last attacked in November 1979. Suddenly he burst into a flood of tears, "our chances of catching the beast are practically ZERO!" he sobbed. Covering his lined face with his hands he continued to weep over his papers for a few moments, finally emerging with some tissues to wipe the salty tears away, and then he cried out "ALL WE'VE GOT ARE THESE DAMN JARS OF GREASE!!"

I left the hysterical doctor,who was now writhing on the floor shouting for his"blanket" in order to meet a Grobboly witness that had contacted me at 2 a.m. on the 14th of November of last year, soon after the demon's assault on a group of young schoolboys from tranquil Wandsworth School. I met the witness in a secret cathedral near Scunthorpe. After locking the mighty wooden doors we sat around a low table to talk. A few minutes passed before she felt safe enough to speak to me. Then,confirming that she was the only witness to the attack, she divulged the intriguing fact that her name was Mrs Eileen Wrenk. She then refused to answer any further questions and fled the building by a concealed door. I left more amazed by the riddle of the Grobboly than ever before.

But even after this realistic and convincing evidence by an on-the-spot witness the boys in the backrooms at Grobboly Squad H.Q. remain unconvinced by my talk with the woman whom the police computer revealed to be a mother of two despite a keen interest in underground golf. P.C. Wrenk told me "this witness has many inherent contradictions within her evidence" He looked me in the eye and bluntly stated, "I've heard many accounts of the Grobboly and this one must be a fake. "

However, despite the police cover-up and their desperate attempt to diffuse the potential mass-panic by inventing a fictitious scapegoat(the much publicised, so-called"Yorkshire Ripper") the greasy Grobboly roams the streets of our fair country, waiting for its next opportunity to strike.

BOTTY.

One dark night last week Mark Rock was cycling home(after an assignation?) when he was suddenly hit on the head by a flying object.He was knocked off his bike.After recovering his composure he found a hard backed diary lying close by.It had obviously had been tossed out of a window,but which one? Mark got back on his mount and took the book home,where he began to read.

We bring you the first remarkable extract from the book.A tale of failed dreams and frustrated ambitions.

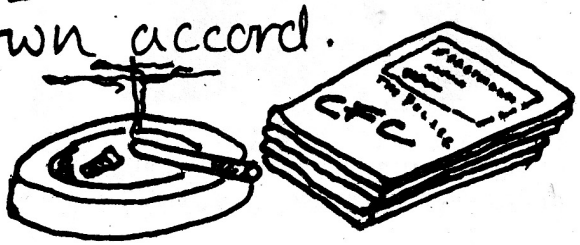

Tuesday Sept. '80

Dear Diary,

Well today was the big day. My first day as an English teacher. I must admit to feeling rather tired and a little despondant, however, I am sure all will be well once I start to actually teach. Arrived after a tedious bus journey. I was struck by a strange feeling of apprehension as I gazed at the School. Prison, Prison, the word kept repeating itself in my head. A strange white face materialized at a window (later identified as the headmaster). It seemed to be silently screaming at me. I rubbed my eyes and it was gone. I tell you I shook myself out of such a gloomy mood quick and walked firmly into the school. My head of department didn't seem to be in the least interested in my scheme for creative writing.

He kept patting me on the shoulder and shaking his head. His eyes were positively glassy and he kept offering me a swig from his hip flask. "Don't worry sonny!" he kept saying, "Have a drink, makes it easier." Eventually he lurched away carrying a whole box of blackboard rubbers. The staffroom is a place of indescribable chaos. Mounds of dusty exercise books, shrouded in a permanent haze of tobacco smoke. I wonder the place doesn't incinerate of its own accord.

AN ASTROLOGICAL ANALYSIS.

WHAT FOLLOWS MAY LOOK LIKE A TYPICAL ASTROLOGY COLUMN BUT IT OFFERS LITTLE TYPICAL ANALYSES OF THOSE BORN UNDER THE VARIOUS BIRTH SIGNS. IT WAS FIRST PUBLISHED IN 'MAMA' JONES' WHO CLAIMED IT HAD BEEN FOUND BY..."A JANITOR AT A SUICIDE PREVENTION CENTRE.."

ARIES

You are the pioneer type and hold most people in contempt. You are quick tempered and scornful of advice. You(Ben) are not very nice.

TAURUS

You have a dogged determination and work like hell. Most people think you are stubborn and bull-headed. You are a Communist.

GEMINI

You are a quick and intelligent thinker. People like you because you are bisexual. However, you are inclined to except too much for too little. This means you are cheap. Geminis are known for incest.

CANCER

You are sympathetic and understanding about other people's problems. They think you are a sucker. Most welfare recipients are Cancer people.

LEO

You consider yourself a born leader. Others think you are pushy. You are vain and dislike honest criticism. Your arrogance is digusting. Leos are thieves.

VIRGO

You are the logical type and hate disorder. This nit-picking is sickening to your friends. you are cold and unemotional (Denys & Mark), and sometimes fall asleep while making love. Virgos make good bus drivers.

LIBRA

You are the artistic type and have a difficult time with reality. If you are a man, you are likely gay. Chances for monetary gain and employment are excellent. Most Libra women are good prostitutes. All Libran people die of veneral disease.

SCORPIO

You are shrewd in business and cannot be trusted. You will achieve success because of your total lack of ethics. Most Scorpios are murdered.

SAGITTARIUS

You are optimistic and enthusiastic. You have a reckless tendency to rely on luck, since you lack talent. The majority of Sagittarians are drunks(Nick) or dope fiends. People laugh at you a great deal.

CAPRICORN

You are conservative and afraid of taking risks. You don't do much and are lazy. There has never been a Capricorn of any consequence. You should avoid standing still for too long as Capricorns take root and become trees.

AQUARIUS

You lie a great deal and are inclined to be reckless and impractical; therefore you make the same mistakes over and over again again. People think you are stopid stupid.

PISCES

You have a vivid imagination and often think you are being followed by the CIA. You have minor influence over your friends. Pisceans do terrible things to animals.

APOCALYPSE NOW?

The Goverment and media of this country are propagating a number of false beliefs about nuclear warfare. Some of these are:

1) A nuclear war could be limited to a small area and would not necessarily kill large numbers of people.

2) Nuclear weapons are for use as a deterrent and not to attack an enemy before he attacks you.

3) The West's arsenal of nuclear weapons is severly outnumbered by that of the East.

None of this is true. If (1) is true then it is strange that the Times has discovered that, in the event of a nuclear war, there will be bunkers under the Chilterns for politicans, civil servants and the miltary, not to mention shelters for local Gov. to ensure its survival. The population will not be invited but instead be issued with a do-it-yourself booklet called "Protect and Survive" and sent off to wait in their homes.

Here they will be advised to build a cubby hole on a ground floor (not much good if you live in a flat), cover it with sandbags and then creep into it for 14 days with food and water, a portable radio and a tin opener. This might save some lives but will make it far worse for others. The principle effects of a nuclear explosion are very intensive heat, blast and radioactive emissions. Within a certain distance of the explosion (3-5 miles) all houses, vehicles, clothes and hair etc.. will ignite spontaneously, while the heat will draw towards it winds of 150mph.

I personally cannot see a home made shelter (or even a specially built one) surviving such conditions. Even outside the area of mass destruction survivors will emerge after 14 days to find food and water contaminated, roads and hospitals destroyed and people dead or dying.

There is too much in the booklet "Protect and Survive" that is too ludicrous for it to be credible. The Goverment tells us that we have nuclear weapons to protect the country but fail to realize (or don't want to admit it) that it is precisely because we have nuclear weapons that we

FROM WILLIAM WHITELAW, HOME SECRETARY:

"Most houses in Britain today offer a reasonable degree of protection from a nuclear attack and safety can be substantially improved by a simple series of DO-IT-YOURSELF measures".

are at risk as targets in a nuclear war.The recent spate of computer errors in the USA(and the"losing" of a nuclear Titan rocket after its motor exploded,luckily when empty of its warhead)has certainly convinced many of the need for disarmenent.People cannot be fobbed off with the Defense Secretarys' reassurance that we have not yet had a serious accident with nuclear weapons,touch wood.The time for touching wood is running out and the country knows it.

The second point,that nukes are for use as a deterent ,certainly has plausability.The idea of detterence has "worked" for 30 years,if not in Vietnam,the Middle East, Czechosovakia Africa,Cambodia,San Salvador,Chile, Afgahistan etc.. then in the battle of the Superpowers across Europe.Yet it has not worked in a stationary state.Weapons for adequate detterence existed 30 years ago and even 200 of the estimated 60,000 nuclear weapons in existence today could destroy all the world's major cities.Why is it modernisations are introduced every year?

The peace movement in Britian has constantly been attacked by the media, who regularly present the idea that preservation of the "nuclear balance" is justification for spending more and more.As a researcher said:

> "If the Russians decided to buy elephants for military purposes, no doubt we would feel it neccessary to follow them".

The Stockholm Peace Institute gives some interesting facts about our "nuclear balance".In a count of strategic nuclear weapons(each individual missile being counted)theUSSR seems slightly ahead of the USA.But when the number of actual warheads were counted (Russian missiles carry one or two warheads while many US weapons can carry 10,each capable of being independently targeted) the USA was found to have twice as many missiles (8,870 to 3,810) as the USSR. President Reagan seems right when he says there is no nuclear balance.

Beyond balance lies the idea that we not only have a smaller arsenal th than the Russians but are also much less aggressive and expansionist.We are free and peace loving,they are monsters of Communism.We are judged by what we say we want to do while they are judged by what they could do.It is quite reasonable to be frightened by Russian military activity in Afganistan,not to mention Czechovakia Hungary and Poland. But if we have fears about the USSR then we should at least try and understand the fears of our 'enemy' and judge his behaviour alongside our own.If Afganistan was a shocker then so was the inhuman war in Vietnam,the continuing occupation of Namibia by the racist state of South Africa,the Turkish invasion of Cyprus and the military coup in Chile.With all these countries the West has an effective economic or military alliance and to whom we supply weapons used for torture and death.

THE ANSWER?

What is the answer?Disarmenent talks have been constantly undermined by decisions by the two Superpowers to escalate the arms race,just as the negotiations on chemical warfare are about to be torpeoded by US resumption of the mass production of nerve gas. And meanwhile the arms race drags us nearer to the cliff.

SUS

All of us know somebody who has been stopped in the street by the police and asked what they were doing there. where they were going,and why they were acting suspiouusly.The person might have been only on their way home from a party,the cinema or shops or just standing in a doorway out of the rain.They were probably questioned for a few minutes and maybe hade their name and adress taken.Perhaps, however, they were taken to a police staion and charged under the"sus" law.

This person will have been charged with:"behaving suspiously with intent to commit a crime".That crime need not be specified.In essence they will have been arrested they had not yet done and were probably not going to do in the first place.

It only takes the "word" of two policeman that a person was acting suspiously for that person to be convicted- no other evidence is needed.If this sounds unjust and obsolete it is,for this law was introduced in 1824 and is only now being scrapped

It is too late,though,for this law has been used widely by the polic in London to disciminate against blacks and Asians,completely destroying any existing reationship between these communities and the police.

With the greatly welcomed news of the scrapping of the "sus" law, however,comes the disturbing news of a new law which is to be brought in to replace it.This would make it a criminal offence to "interfere" with a motor vehicle in a public place, "with the intention of" gaining entry to it,or acess to anything in it,or to see""wether it is possible to gain such entry of acess".Interference is not defined,but it will probably mean siddling up to a car and trying its door handles,It could,of course,mean much less than that(and for the majority of cases probably will);for instance leaning on a car and looking inside.

How is this intent to be proved? As this new law stands it does not have to be proved.Instead it is up to the accused to prove that he did not intend to do any of the things mentioned above.In any other circumstance it would be the police who would have to prove guilt while the accused is thought of as innocent until then. It seems,then,that the new law differs little from the old.

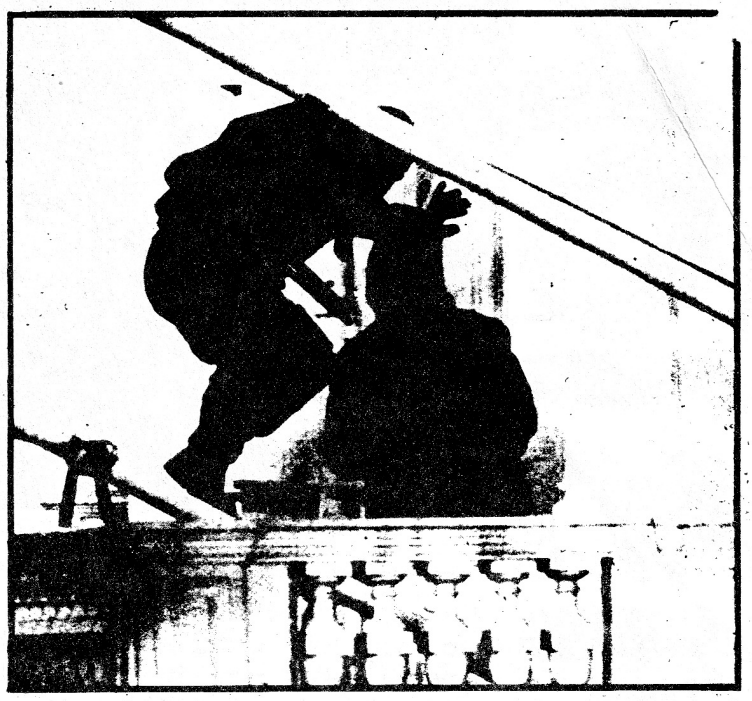

In both cases evidence will come from the police that they saw the accused doing something suspious and in both cases it is left to the police to say what the intent of the accused was.If "sus" is used by the police to pick on young blacks(seemingly for no other reason than that they are racist) then so can the new law.The communities wi will thus remain.

The Goverment has claimed that the law of attempt is not suffient unless the attempted crime was clear and that the police really need this new power It is striking,however,that many police forces have hardly needed to use "sus" to fight street crime and would not need to use the new law.

The Goverment should consider wether it is worth taking the very big chance of again alienating young people by introducing a law which can have little effect on an increasing crime rate.If this does become law let's hope there is a loud and strong a campaign for its abolition as there was for that of "sus".

FLY WITH THE BEST

If you've got it in you, we'll bring it out.

If you feel the future of Britain is important, the RAF offers something you might be interested in. Apart from the expense paid holidays in romantic spots like N. Ireland, Germany, Cyprus and Lebanon, you'll get up there in fast jets (that really vroom) to seek out unidentified intruders in our airspace. Of course, you know as well as I do that there's nothing there except a couple of birds but that doesn't stop us from going out and having a really mind boggling time. And I mean like weird. Buzzing Concorde, scaring the passengers etc... its all part of the job.

Using the highly advanced navigational equipment and radar scanners you've mastered in training you'll be responsible for directing your aircraft to its target with pin-point accuracy and then (hopefully) sending one hell of a big missile right up some dirty red's backside. I've done it and I tell you I got one hell of a kick, wooooo.. In addition, you'll be able to play Space Invaders on our sophisicated equipment at 20,000ft. If that ain't freaky I don't know what is.

Now, what kind of a person are we looking for, eh? We're after quick thinkers and those who like taking orders. Any kind of intellectual scum is definately out, OK. We're after men who can act cool in a crisis, I mean real cool. Myself I'm so amazingly cool you could keep a side of ice in me for a month. I'm so hip I have difficulty seeing over my pelvis. You've got to be well educated. If you're any kind of riff raff forget it. I mean, these are expensive aircraft we fly.

Do you fit the bill? Are you one of these people? If you are and would like further details either fill in and return the coupon below or call at your nearest RAF Careers Information Office-address in the phone book.

STING

The Police, whose recent Tooting Bec Common concerts were widely acclaimed as the anti-climax of 1980, have always had a talent for performing under peculiar circumstances. In the summer of last year their fans were caught up in the "Great Milton Keynes Mudbowl Disaster" when they were hit by torrential rain. They were the first band to tour India, Hong Kong and Cairo in one go. In 1979 they played both a matinee concert at the Hammersmith Odeon, then crossed the Broadway in an armoured car to the Palais for an evening gig. Their latest deviation was to play two concerts in L.A: one for the general public and the other strictly for blondes!

The market of good, second-hand clothing is no longer cornered by "Thrift" and Charity shops. In the last few years US clothing of the 50s and 60s has seen a revival.

In the late 70s FLIP opened their first London shop in the Kings Road, stocking such items like baseball jackets and army fatigues, as well as a huge variety of shirts and jackets. The prices, however, have risen considerably recently, well above most other shops. Real bargains can sometimes be found but for consistent low prices you will probably find places such as "The Great Gear Market" in Kings Road or "The Thrift Shop" near Clapham Junction.

FLIPS three shops are at:

98 Curtain Road, EC2
near Liverpool St station
22 Bus

125 Longacre, WC2
near Leicester Sq/Covent Garden Tube

191 Kings Road, SW3
near Sloane Sq tube
22 bus

The death of rock super-star John Lennon has worried other musicians, such as David Bowie, into states of near seclusion. Bowie, hailed as one of the greatest talents of the 70s, has now hired 6 full time bodyguards and is seldom known to leave his New York apartment, except to fulfil his role as the "Elephant Man" on Broadway.

Another performer to hire bodyguards is Bruce Springsteen. He is currently on a World Tour and will be playing English dates in March and April. For the 40,000 seats available, over ¼ million people applied!

Elvis Costello is playing two London dates in his Spring Tour at the Hammersmith Odeon on the 27/28 of March. Ticket prices are £3.50 and £3.00.

Rumour has it that Steve Miller has developed a taste for expensive claret.Could this,we wonder,signal a moderate realignment politically.The Proletariat has a right to know.

Arch-sociologist Steve "Red" Miller admitted recently in an interview with a Point Blank source that,in the days of the Happy Hippies,he used to wear — Yellow Flares.

A Point Blank reporter overheard a conversation with Ron "Quiff" Hollis and an anonymous Sixth Former yesterday.It was about the students tight jeans. Big Ron revealed that he had suffered adverse effects while wearing a tailor made tight shirt.Apparently he credited a resulting cold to the clinging garment.Is this the only reason? I think we should be told.

"Raving" Dennis has recently been questioning pupils on the presence of "sociologists" in the school.Apparently he thinks(is this true?)that they, once loyal pupils of his,have been brainwashed by Russians and sent back to undermine the socio-political balance that exists within the school.What are their real purpose and should we be told?

Our 'mole' in the History Dept informs us that after extensive discussions on their syllabus it has been decided to teach only the History of Manchester United. Mike 'History is Bunk' Buxton has a CSE (Grade 6)in the subject - could this have influenced the momentous decision?
